About treating burn scars with lasers

Burn scars are traumatic at the time, but the scars they leave can be a constant reminder and source of pain. The sooner after the accident the scars are treated, the better and more likely they can be fully resolved. Even old thick scars can be reduced to a great degree by laser stimulation, but they can require repeat treatments.

With two decades of experience, the Scheibner Centre has a long track record in treating burn scars successfully.

We hope we can be of help you or someone you know who suffers from a burn scar.
