Laser stimulation to Faces

Laser treatment can make you look a decade younger and slow down aging. The face when treated by laser stimulation lifts gently. There is also reduction of unwanted blemishes, freckles and acne. Tightening of the eyelids occurs, making the eyes appear larger and years younger. The results are long lasting as well.

Neck skin firms as the laser treatment stimulates the collagen layer and triggers the bodies own rejuvenation to repair the area, firming and lifting the skin in the process. And unlike collagen injections and such, the effects are long lasting, usually about a decade or so before any re-treatment is necessary.

The laser treatment has a general lifting effect, but looks completely natural, not pulled back or artificial. The eyelids tighten naturally making the eyes appear larger and years younger.

The effect of the laser treatment stimulates the collagen layer which has an overall firming effect.

Wrinkles and other effects of years of sundamage are dramatically reduced before and after the eternally young laser treatment.

“Many times you have heard the saying 'If only I could be young again and know what I know now.' Well, now it is a reality. ... I easily look fifteen years younger. ... I often see clients or even movie stars where I think they have lost the warmth from their face. This method you don't look gaunt or pulled. My eyes after this treatment don't need tightening- and they look natural. My broken capillaries were a problem. Guess what! They were lasered off at the same time.“
